PM Modi opens Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway, holds mega roadshow

Mandya, Mar. 12 (Mohanraj&BCT)- Prime Minister Narendra Modi inaugurated the 10-lane Mysuru-Bengaluru Access Controlled Expressway at Gejjalagere near Maddur in Mandya this afternoon. It was the PM's first visit to Mandya and he held a massive roadshow inside the Vokkaliga heartland in a poll-bound State.

It is expected to boost the spirit of the BJP cadre in the region. The PM's special plane landed at Mysore Airport at 10.48 am and the PM took an MI helicopter to fly to Mandya.

The Expressway project has been developed at a cost of Rs. 8,480 crore and promises to reduce travel time between the two cities from 3 hours to 75 minutes. PM Modi also laid the foundation stone for the Mysuru-Kushalnagar four-lane Highway that will be built at a cost of Rs. 4,130 crore.

The roadshow spanned around 1.8 km from the Inspection Bungalow to Nanda Talkies Circle. He waved at a large cheering crowd, who had lined up on both sides of the route.

The Prime Minister picked up the flower petals which got piled up on the bonnet of his car and was seen hurling them back at the crowd. He also got down of his car and greeted folk artistes who staged a performance in his welcome.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari and Minister for Parliamentary Affairs Pralhad Joshi were present along with the PM on the dais.

In his address, Nitin Gadkari said that the new Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway will be connected to Coimbatore in Tamil Nadu and Sulthan Bathery in Kerala. The new Expressway will double tourism in the region, he said, during the launch of the Expressway at Mandya.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Friendships must be nurtured if they are to thrive. "Go oft to a friend's house or the weeds will mask the path," goes a saying. The path is virtual more often than not, with friends scattered all over the globe. Friendships can occur at any stage of life with a person of any age. The luckiest are the ones who build warm friendships among their school peers; growing up with shared experiences creates a bonding that is unparalleled.

There are childhood friends who are lucky enough to work in the same city and meet regularly. It is indeed a fulfilling experience when their spouses join in, and children are included too, carrying the friendship down a generation.

I have friends who are mostly quiet, barring a forward or two once in a while, but when we talk, it is as if we had never stopped talking; like my childhood friend, Brunda, who peps me up every single time when I am feeling down. Perhaps that's what true friendships are.

Sending or receiving morning and night greetings through the ubiquitous WhatsApp may be boring or even annoying, but in a way, it indicates that you remember that person, or vice versa. Incidentally, bonding over messages and phone calls even before meeting in person is also a possibility, as I discovered.

Two of my daughter Rukma's close friends became my friends too over the phone after my daughter crossed over to a higher realm. When finally I met them — Ganavi and Manjula, one an accomplished specialised doctor and the other an established engineer — the chemistry was instant, and it was as if we had known each other for ages.

Such relationships seem worthwhile, and I am sure Rukma is flashing her dimpled smile too.

Berlin allows all to go topless at public swimming pools

Berlin: All swimmers at public pools in Berlin will soon be allowed to swim topless, city officials announced on Thursday, according to the BBC.

The new ruling comes after a woman took legal action in response to being thrown out of an open-air pool for sunbathing topless. The woman, whose identity has not been revealed, had turned to the senate's ombudsperson's office for equal treatment to demand that women, like men, should be permitted to go topless should they choose.

As per the outlet, Berlin authorities agreed they had been victims of discrimination and said that all visitors to Berlin's pools are now entitled to go topless. In reaction to the complaint and the ombudsman's involvement in the case, Berliner Baederbetriebe, which runs the city's public pools, changed its clothing rules too accordingly.

First woman to swim 1.55 miles in Antarctica

Chilean: A Chilean swimmer has become the first person to swim 1.55 miles through the frigid waters of Antarctica.

Bárbara Hernández, 37, an open water swimmer whose accomplishments include a Guinness World Record for the fastest ocean mile swim through the Drake Passage in southern Chile, wore only a standard bathing suit when she took on the 36-degree water.

Hernández said her swim, believed to be a new world record for the longest Antarctic swim, was aimed at raising awareness of the need to protect Antarctic waters.

"I'm so happy and so relieved that it all went well. Swimming in Antarctica has been a dream I've had for years, and part of my longtime ambition to swim in parts of all seven of the world's oceans. Physically it has been incredibly tough, but all worth it if the message on the need for urgent action to protect these amazing waters reaches decision-makers," Hernández said in a news release.

R. Dhruvanarayan laid to rest with State honours

Mortal remains buried next to graves of his parents at his native of Heggavadi, Chamarajanagar taluk

Leader of the Opposition Siddharamaiah, KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar, KPCC Working President Saleem Ahmed, former Deputy Chief Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara and other leaders at the funeral of KPCC Working President R. Dhruvanarayan at Heggavadi village in Chamarajanagar district this afternoon. Picture right shows R. Dhruvanarayan's wife Veena helped by her son Dheeran paying her last respects to the mortal remains of her husband.

Mysuru, Mar. 12 (SS&BS)- The last rites of KPCC Working President R. Dhruvanarayan (61) was performed with full State honours, amid cries and sorrow of his family members and a large number of supporters at his native Heggavadi village in Chamarajanagar district this afternoon.

The mortal remains were laid to rest next to the graves of his parents — Siddamma and Rangaswamy — at the family's farm in the village. His wife Veena paid her last respects, even as her sons Darshan and Dheeran performed the rituals. The Police Band performed the National Anthem and three rounds were fired in the air by Police, marking the State honour.

Earlier, the body was kept in the premises of the house at the village and was brought in a procession from Chamarajanagar at about 2 am. A bhajan was organised with a troupe rendering devotional songs and praying for the departed soul.

Congress flag

A teary-eyed KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar placed the Congress party flag on the box, where the body of Dhruvanarayan was kept. To enable villagers and others to pay their last respects, the Police, led by Chamarajanagar Superintendent of Police (SP) Padmini Saho and Additional Deputy Commissioner S. Kathyayini Devi, had made elaborate arrangements by barricading the pathway leading to the house of Dhruvanarayan.

While the village wore a near-deserted look, with the grief-stricken villagers yet to come out of the shock, the boards were erected to condole the death of a senior Congress leader.

The funeral was attended by Leader of Opposition in Legislative Assembly Siddharamaiah, AICC General Secretary and Karnataka in-Charge Randeep Singh Surjewala, AICC Secretary and Karnataka in-Charge Roji M. John, KPCC Working President Saleem Ahmed, former Deputy Chief Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara, KPCC Working President Satish Jarkiholi, former KPCC President Dinesh Gundurao and former Ministers Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa and H. Anjaneya.

Supporters of R. Dhruvanarayan raised slogans at the funeral site, demanding the Congress leaders to announce ticket for one of the sons of departed leader, to contest forthcoming Assembly election from Nanjangud (SC Reserve) constituency.

MLAs Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah and Anil Chikkamadu, MLC A.H. Vishwanath, former Chamarajanagar MPs Kagalavadi M. Shivanna and A. Siddaraju, former MLAs Kalale Keshavamurthy, A.R. Krishnamurthy and S. Balaraj, Congress leader H.M. Ganesh Prasad from Gundlupet, former Presidents of Chamarajanagar ZP M. Ramachandra and Nagashri Prathap, farmer leader Chukki Nanjundaswamy were also present.

Dhruvanarayan taught me basics when I became MP: Pratap Simha

Mysuru, Mar.12 (BS): Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha turned emotional while paying his last respects to the mortal remains of KPCC Working President R. Dhruvanarayan, who passed away yesterday.

Pratap Simha

Pratap Simha, who also stays near the house of Dhruvanarayan at Vijayanagar Third Stage, attributed the honing of his administrative skills as an MP to Dhruvanarayan.

Speaking to media persons, Simha said, "When I was elected as an MP for the first time in 2014, I didn't have much knowledge. Though I belonged to another party, it was Dhruvanarayan who taught me how to review the progress of works during District Development and Coordination and Monitoring Committee (DISHA) meetings and the officer concerned with whom we have to communicate and how to move the files."

"Dhruvanarayan was a senior politician whom I respected a lot. He was the champion of the development of a backward Chamarajanagar District. Though National Democratic Alliance (NDA) Government was in power and Dhruvanarayan belonged to the Opposition Congress party, he had a very good rapport with all the Union Ministers and was instrumental in getting funds sanctioned for the development of the district. If Chamarajanagar has witnessed vast development, it is due to Dhruvanarayan, he said.

"Dhruvanarayan had gained the love and affection of people, irrespective of class and creed. If anybody asked for the address of my house, I used to tell them that I reside near Dhruvanarayan's house. That was his popularity. His passing away is the biggest loss to the old Mysuru region," added Simha.

Supporters, fans raise slogans for not arranging a hearse

Mysuru, Mar.12 (BS)- Irked over not arranging a special vehicle (hearse) to carry the mortal remains of KPCC Working President R. Dhruvanarayan in a procession, supporters and fans of the late leader raised slogans against Opposition Leader Siddharamaiah and KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar.

A large number of supporters of Dhruvanarayan who had gathered outside the house of Dhruvanarayan at Vijayanagar 3rd Stage in city yesterday, were upset over not arranging any special vehicle to take the mortal remains in a procession from the house to the party office — Indira Congress Bhavan, near City Railway Station.

A small ambulance had been arranged, upon seeing it, the supporters of Dhruvanarayan lost their cool and vented their anguish against Congress leaders. When Siddharamaiah and D.K. Shivakumar arrived on the spot, they raised slogans against them also. Siddharamaiah tried to pacify them but in vain.

Later, H.D. Kote MLA Anil Chikkamadu arranged a hearse from Bengaluru, in which the mortal remains were taken in a procession from the house to Congress Office, through Ashokapuram Main Road, JLB Road and Nanjangud Road towards Chamarajanagar.

Poor planning of civil works
at residents' cost in Vijayanagar

Sir,

This is regarding poor planning of civil works by Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) taken up at Vijayanagar 4th Stage, II Phase, in the city.

At first, the only accessibility to aforesaid area was the road connecting Outer Ring Road via KSRTC depot located in 4th Stage. Same was taken up for asphalting a couple of months ago. Meanwhile, a small drain bridge on the path had partly collapsed which was later noticed by the workers after laying stones on the road. Now, a new bridge is under construction which may take up to one year to complete.

Second, the UGD work was taken up last month in Cross Roads, wherein it was left incomplete due to poor workmanship causing damages to drinking water pipe, electricity and UGD pipes.

Reddish soil, which was left after digging the earth, is still lying on roads making it non-motorable and leading to skidding, even while walking. If it rains, one can imagine about the plight of road users. Residents of this layout face threat to life, due to above said conditions.

Third, most of the street-lights doesn't work, which further increases the risk. Even the road connecting the layout to Ring Road has been lacking from street-lights all these years. But buses from depot keep plying.

A few of women residents of the layout are employed and use this road while returning home during evenings, which becomes pitch dark due to lack of street-lights.

Hope Star of Mysore helps to reach our voices to the authorities concerned, considering the situation of women residents of the layout.

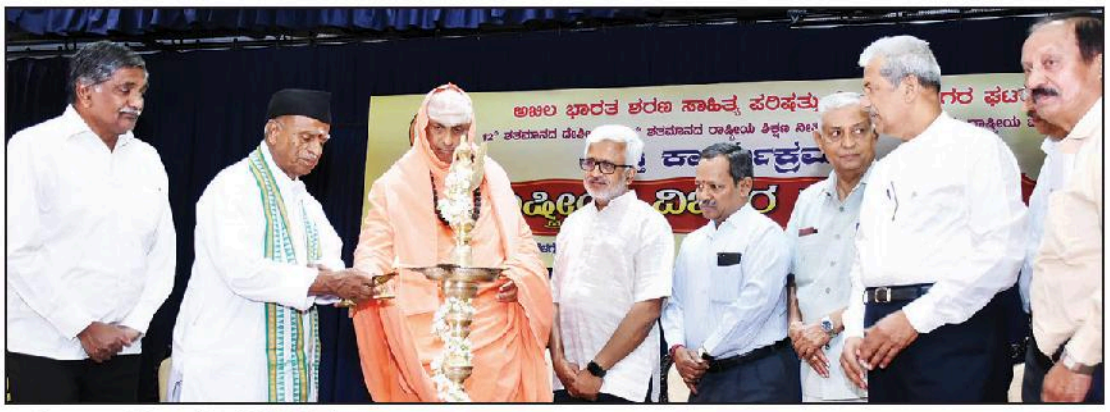
'Nationalism' will help create a sense of responsibility amongst us: RSS leader



Mysuru, Mar. 12 (PM&DM)- Senior RSS (Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh) Pracharak Su. Ramanna said that Nationalism is a highly valued quality and is key for building a sense of devotion and patriotism among countrymen. He was speaking on the topic "The relevance of Nationalism" after inaugurating a national seminar on Sharana Movement and NEP in the 21st century organised by the City Unit of Akhila Bharat Sharana Sahitya Parishat at JSS College for Women at Saraswathipuram here yesterday.

Maintaining that Nationalism is an unifying force, Ramanna observed that India came under British rule because we failed to understand the larger meaning & significance of 3 words — Nation, Nationalism and Nationality.

"India has now turned into a country which the world today is seeing as a hope. Our country is fast undergoing transformation, thus raising hopes globally. Earlier, we became targets of someone and were also insulted. But now the situation has changed completely, with India earning respect of the entire world. We are also responding positively and emotionally to the crisis in other countries. The word Nationalism has eliminated fear among our sons of the soil and at the same time has helped build hope in them," he opined.

Continuing, Ramanna said that in the past, India was introduced merely as a country of the Sub-Continent and this was seen in our academic curriculum too. But there was a big conspiracy behind this angle of introduction, which was part of British politics and plot. However, India is moving forward and shining now on all fronts, he said adding that slogans such as 'Bharat Mata Ki Jai', 'Vande Mataram' etc.,have revived the spirit of Nationalism.

Noting that conflicts arise whenever the demand for rights crop up, the senior RSS leader said that, however, such things does not matter whenever we speak of the Nation. Instead, we will develop a zeal for serving the country in whichever way we can, he said. Asserting that Nationalism will teach us of our duties and responsibilities towards our country, Ramanna said that the issue of Rights will be of no matter in such a situation. Contending that our duties and responsibilities to the country are above everything else, he said everyone should realise that Bharat is our Motherland and not a land of material enjoyment. Then only we can become not just citizens or Indian Nationals, but real sons of the soil, he said adding that such a situation will help in carrying forward the narrative of 'Unity in Diversity' by overcoming all obstructions and divisions in the society.

"We should live for the sake of our country and not for oneself. No one should develop the attitude or arrogance that 'I am inevitable for the country'. The country has rejected those who have displayed such an arrogance. We are all seeing how the spirit of Nationalism is increasing in the country for the past 7-8 years," he said while asserting that ours is Cultural Nationalism (Samskrutika Rashtriyate) and not Diplomatic Nationalism (Rajaneetika Rashtriyate).

Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji, who graced the occasion, said that Nationalism is more important than all other things. We should shun our inferiority complex, parochialism and narrow-mindedness and try to build a sense of Nationalism, he noted.

Theatre Director Prof. H.S. Umesh spoke on the topics '12th century Desheegnana - Kayaka' and 'National Education Policy in the 21st Century' while Maharani's College for Women faculty Dr. B.V. Vasanthkumar spoke on the topic 'Sharanara Chaluvali Ondu Rashtriya Chaluvali.'

Tributes were paid to late littérateur Prof. Maleyur Guruswamy and KPCC Working President R. Dhruvanarayan.

Union Government's Capacity Building Commission Member Dr. Balasubramaniam presided. Former MLC Thontadarya, Sharana Sahitya Parishat City President M.G. Sadanandaiah and others were present.

Good infrastructure creates new opportunities for progress: Modi

'Congress busy in digging grave for PM but Modi is busy in enhancing lives of poor'

Prime Minister Narendra Modi waves at the crowd from the giant stage at Gejjalagere Colony this afternoon as CM Basavaraj Bommai, Union Ministers Nitin Gadkari and Pralhad Joshi and Karnataka Ministers K. Gopalaiah and S.T. Somashekar look on.

Mandya, Mar. 12 (Agencies)- Addressing a massive gathering in Mandya, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said, "Double engine Govt's aim is to repay your love in the form of 'Vikas' of the State. "In the last few days, people are talking about the Expressway and pictures are also viral on social media. The youth of the country are elated about the project. All these projects will pave way for 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikaas.' I congratulate you for all these connectivity projects," he said.

The state-of-the-art road infrastructure projects being launched today in Karnataka will boost connectivity across the State and strengthen economic growth. Initiatives like 'Bharatmala' and 'SagarMala' are transforming India's landscape. Infrastructure brings employment, investment and means of new business avenues for the State, he said.

Bengaluru and Mysuru are important cities of Karnataka. Both have their own emphasis, one is known for its technology whereas the other is known for its tradition. It was important to connect these two cities with technology and infrastructure, the PM added. "Whenever there is a discussion about infrastructure, then the names of two great figures remain leading, Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar and Sir M. Visvesvaraya.

In the last nine years, houses were made for over 3 crore poor people under which lakhs of houses were made in Karnataka. Under Jal Jeevan Mission, tap water has also been provided to 40 lakh families in Karnataka, the PM said.

"Congress is busy in digging the grave for PM but Modi is busy in enhancing lives of the poor. From 2013-14 onwards, Rs. 17,000 crores of ethanol have been purchased from the sugar mills and this money has reached the sugarcane farmers. Irrigation projects which were pending for decades in the country are being completed at a fast pace through the Upper Bhadra Project," the PM added.

Mandya turns saffron for PM Modi's visit

Mandya, Mar. 12 (Mohanraj & BCT)- Mandya, the sugar bowl of Karnataka transformed into a saffron district with BJP and saffron flags flying over its streets to greet Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Modi's visit to Mandya is likely to give the BJP Government in the State a much-needed vigour in the lead-up to the Assembly elections in 2023. Four giant welcome arches — Sir M. Visvesvaraya Mahadwara, Kempegowda Mahadwara, Nalwadi Krishnaraja Mahadwara and Sri Balagangadharanatha Mahadwara — have been erected.

The Mandya town and the district areas where the Expressway passes have been done up with BJP flags and welcome hoardings. The BJP activists along with workers were seen busy late last night installing party flags and welcome hoardings on every square or circle which apparently have done up aptly for the welcome of the Prime Minister.

Supporters have erected huge hoardings with party flags and posters depicting PM Modi and other senior party leaders. According to reports in the ruling BJP the Prime Minister's visit is expected to propel party members of the saffron party as well as Hindu activists to get on a poll campaigning mode to win over people of Mandya, a Vokkaliga heartland, using the plank of development.

Interestingly, social media campaigns have been doing rounds for a week or so to woo people. A party supporter said, "This is just a matter of only one more day, after the rally is over, we will remove everything and everything would be normal." Besides, hoardings and arches highlighting centrally sponsored schemes too have been erected, he added.

He said that everything was being done for an important event. "We do such things in our houses before a happy occasion. Likewise, we are decorating the town for an important function as our PM is visiting us," he said.

Modi greeted in Mysuru

PM shares highlights of his Karnataka visit

New Delhi, Mar. 12- Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday shared the highlights of his visit to Karnataka today (Sunday). He tweeted: "I will be in Karnataka to attend programmes in Mandya and Hubballi-Dharwad. Development works worth Rs. 16,000 crore would either be inaugurated or their foundation stones would be laid.

"From Mandya, the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway would be dedicated to the nation. The foundation stone for the Mysuru-Kushalnagar Highway would also be laid. These projects will boost connectivity and socio-economic growth.

"The development works in Hubballi-Dharwad cover different sectors. Projects such as IIT Dharwad and the longest railway platform in the world at Sri Siddharoodha Swamiji Hubballi Station would be dedicated to the nation. The foundation stone for a water supply scheme will be laid."

Replying to a tweet by MP Pratap Simha regarding development projects in Karnataka, the Prime Minister said, "Our Government is working to boost connectivity and economic progress. The Expressway between Mysuru and Bengaluru is a step in that direction."

From Light to Darkness

The Journey of the Jacob Diamond

In my last and concluding article about my visit to the Falaknuma Palace in Hyderabad, I had mentioned about the Jacob Diamond, the fifth largest diamond in the world, that was acquired and owned by Mir Mahboob Ali Khan, the sixth Nizam of Hyderabad. This diamond was known by a few other names too, like The Imperial Diamond, The Victoria Diamond and The Great White Diamond, but the name that stuck to it is of its original seller, Alexander Malcolm Jacob.

Mir Mahboob Ali Khan

Mir Osman Ali Khan

Alexander Malcolm Jacob

And, unlike most other famous diamonds, this diamond was sold only twice — once to the Nizam, by Jacob and then to the Indian government by the Nizam's heirs, and it is unlikely to be sold, ever again! But like many famous diamonds, this one too has a very fascinating story behind it. Most surprisingly, this diamond, weighing about four hundred carats, which amounts to about eighty grams and known to be much bigger than the famous Kohinoor Diamond, in its uncut stage, was reportedly found lying forlorn and forgotten, in one of the shoes of the Nizam at the Chowmohalla Palace, after his death. The reason for it adorning such an inglorious place, despite being a gem fit for the monarch's crown, was perhaps because its owner felt disillusioned with its size and beauty, after he had entered into an agreement to buy it and had paid half its agreed price of fifty lakh rupees to the seller.

The Nizam, who had entered into a contract to buy it, after seeing only a glass replica of the original, tried hard to stall the deal and wriggle out of it. He claimed that while he had paid an advance, he had, in his contract, retained the right of refusal, if he did not like the diamond for some reason. When Jacob pleaded inability to rescind the deal and return the advance amount he had taken, a Calcutta Court issued a warrant for Jacob's arrest, after the Nizam charged him with fraud.

The Nizam-friendly British government banned Jacob from dealing with any of the Indian Princes, effectively cutting him off his gem, jewellery and antiques business. Jacob was acquitted of all charges by the Calcutta High Court which unfortunately for him, had no jurisdiction over the Nizam's Hyderabad State and so Jacob never received a penny more than the advance amount from the Nizam. Not very surprisingly, the British government, known for its tactfulness then, as it is now, refused to intervene in a private deal! After this prolonged legal battle, when the Nizam agreed to take the gem only for a much lesser sum, the raw deal left the seller not only fretting and fuming but bankrupt too.

A retirement-eager Jacob had apparently bought the diamond for rupees twenty-one lakh and had planned to sell it to the Nizam for rupees fifty lakh and had hoped to live off the profits, from this 'last sale'. While the Nizam had only paid an advance amount to him, an exuberant and over-confident Jacob had paid the full price to the Dutch company he bought the gem from!

Jacob was an art dealer who had connections in high places and was a close confidant of British Viceroys and Indian Princes. And, among his wide circle of acquaintances was also the Sixth Nizam, Mir Mahboob Ali Khan, the ruler of Hyderabad. Jacob was born in Turkey and he had arrived in Simla in the year 1870 and founded a business trading in precious gemstones. The success of the business allowed him to build a luxurious house, known as 'Belvedere' in Simla, which still stands to this day.

Some reports say that Jacob was also a spy working for undisclosed foreign powers like Russia, which is why Rudyard Kipling in his novel, Kim, is said to have created the character of Lurgan Sahib of the British Secret Service, after Jacob.

American author F. Marion Crawford is said to have written the novel, Mr. Isaacs about him in 1882. And, as recently as in 2012, Sydney-based journalist John Zubrzycki wrote a very interesting biography, 'The Mysterious Mr Jacob: Diamond Merchant, Magician and Spy'. Incidentally, Zubrzycki has written an equally interesting biography about Mukarram Jah the last titular Nizam, who passed away in January this year.

In the Nizam's Palace, the Jacob diamond gained the nickname of Manhoos Hira, the ill-omened diamond and so the Nizam tucked it into one of his many shoes and forgot all about it. It was a large colourless and relatively unattractive diamond, that had been mined at Kimberley in South Africa. Strangely, nothing about it seems to be hunky-dory, because its journey started with it being illegally picked up from the mine and smuggled out by a security guard. Even its transportation to Amsterdam for cutting and polishing was done illegally to avoid paying the heavy customs duties on gemstones that prevailed at that time.

Although once ranked as the fifth-largest diamond in the world, after cutting and polishing, with its 58 facets, it weighed 184.75 carats which is about a mere thirty-five grams. When the heirs of the Nizam decided to auction it away at London's Sotheby's, the Indian government stepped in to stop its export, citing 'the prohibition of the export of valuable artifacts act' and purchased it from the Nizam's Trust, along with their other jewels for rupees two hundred and eighteen crore. Sotheby's had predicted that it would be able to sell that collection for at least rupees one thousand and five hundred crore to collectors but there was no way it could reach them!

To go back in time a little, a helpless and heart-broken Jacob, who was by then drowned in bankruptcy, shifted to Bombay where he stayed in the building where Phillips Antiques now is, at the Regal Circle in Colaba. He later shifted to the now defunct annexe of the Watsons Hotel, where he died as a recluse in 1921.

'A romantic career ends in Poverty', wrote The Statesman, Calcutta, in his obituary of 12 January 1921. The newspaper had reported extensively on the 'Jacob Diamond trial'. An obituary notice was also published in the Bombay edition of The Times of India to mourn the passing away of A.M. Jacob, aged seventy-one-years. No mention was made of any grieving family member or the cause of death. So, the man who once owned the fifth largest diamond in the world died a penniless pauper! For over a hundred years, his grave has remained hidden in the dusty environment of the city's Sewri Christian cemetery, while his spirit is possibly secure with his diamond in the vaults of the Reserve Bank of India!

Mysuru Braille Press supplies textbooks to 20 schools

Mysuru, Mar. 12 (SPN&DM)- In a landmark achievement, the Government Braille Press located in the premises of Government School for the Deaf and the Dumb, Tilaknagar in city and the only one-of-its-kind in the State, has supplied 4,955 Braille textbooks (2022-23) to more than 20 schools for the differently-abled across the State.

The schools for the differently-abled that have received the books include Siddaganga High School, Davanagere; School for the Deaf and Dumb, Mysuru; Maharani's College, Mysuru; Rangarao Memorial School for the Blind, Metagalli, Mysuru; Navachetana School for the Blind, Kunigal; Sri Manik Prabhu School, Bidar; Jyothiseva School, Bengaluru; Ashakirana School, Chikkamagalur; Siddaganga School, Tumakuru; Government School, Kalaburagi; Murugharajendra School, Haaladakatta; Aroodha School, Hubballi; VKG School, Afzalpur; Ambubai School, Kalaburagi; Manik Prabhu School, Raichur; Maheshwari School, Belagavi; BJP School, Ramanagar and Teekshna School, Chitradurga.

According to sources, the Braille Press could supply only 358 textbooks to schools in 2021-22 due to COVID pandemic. Prior to the pandemic, the Press used to supply more than 15,000 books. But for reasons unknown, the demand for textbooks dropped to less than 10,000. The Press has been printing books in 53 subjects of Classes 1 to 10.

Meanwhile, the Press is facing fund crunch. As a result, the landline phone connection has been cut-off last year. This apart, the Press has not been able to get replacement for one of the only two machines that are in the Press, for want of grants. Both the printing machines are imported ones and getting them repaired is a problem as it can be done only by the company mechanics.

Lokesh, a tenth standard disabled student, said that Braille textbooks are available for standards 1 to 10. But there is shortage of tenth standard books as the supply is short. The authorities must take note of this and ensure that sufficient number of books are available.

CCTV captures man picking up a gold chain found on road

Woman, who lost the valuable, appeals to him to return

The lady has now appealed to the unidentified person to return her mangalsutra and she has even lodged a complaint with the Jayalakshmipuram Police Station and has produced CCTV footage to help the Police trace the man.

The woman, who lost her gold chain, is Dr. Shobha Hebbar, wife of Dr. V. Nagaraj, a resident of 6th Main, 3rd Block at Jayalakshmipuram here.

The incident took place on Feb. 26 morning and Dr. Shobha stated in her Police complaint that she was watering the plants in front of her house at about 8.25 am when she accidentally tripped and fell backwards. Due to the impact of the fall, her gold mangalsutra, weighing about 25 grams, which she was wearing, slipped and fell from her neck.

She failed to notice the fallen mangalsutra and went inside. However, at around 8.50 am on the same day, a man, aged between 35 and 40 years came walking on the same road where Dr. Shobha has her house. He noticed the gold chain that was lying on the road and looked around. There was no one on the road.

Moments later, he picked up the gold chain, put it inside his pocket and walked away. The entire incident has been captured on a CCTV camera installed in her neighbour's house.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Dr. Shobha said that after she fell, she did not observe her gold chain immediately. "I realised that the mangalsutra was missing after some time and later when I requested my neighbours for the CCTV footage, they obliged and I could spot the man walking away with my gold chain," she said.

"I waited for a few days hoping that the man might turn up to return my mangalsutra and now I have lodged a Police complaint on Mar. 8," she said. Dr. Shobha has appealed to the man to return her gold chain. Dr. Shobha can be contacted on Mob: 94492-74083 or 96325-48150.

WORD OF THE DAY

Stultify

Pronunciation: STUL-tuh-fye.
Meaning: Stultify means "to cause someone or something to become dull or ineffective."
Origin: Foolish or absurd behaviour often makes us laugh. Take the 2006 comedy film Idiocracy, for instance, which depicts the United States in a dystopian future stultified by centuries of anti-intellectualism and crass commercialism. This description of the movie showcases one sense of stultify, "to cause to appear or be stupid, foolish, or absurdly illogical." But there is nothing especially funny about the now-archaic original usage of the word. In mid-1700s legal contexts, if you stultified yourself, you claimed to be of unsound mind and thus not responsible for your actions. Nor is there humour in the most common current meaning of stultify, which refers to rendering someone or something dull or ineffective.
Example: "The more time one spends in these galleries, the more we appreciate the astonishing level of detail [Jona] Frank has conjured to narrate the story of her childhood growing up in Cherry Hill, New Jersey. It also attests to the power of memory and to the indelible psychic imprints left by parents who, constricted by their own ideas of how things should be—and by the aspirations they often live out through their children—unconsciously stultify the natural life force of their offspring." —Jorge S. Arango

THE ODD WORD

Sabbulonarium

Gravel pit.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Smell a rat

Meaning: When you say you 'Smell a Rat' you mean that you're picking up on something suspicious.
Origin: No one is certain when or where this phrase originated, however if you have ever smelt a dead rat in a wall, you know that the odour is horrible, indicating that something is definitely out of place. The term probably comes from the days when rats were more common, and when prize terriers were used to sniff them out and kill them.
Example: "What are you guys up to? I smell a rat."

QUOTE BOX

Hating people is like burning down your own house to get rid of a rat.
